INTRODUCTION

The academic year 2015-16 began with the most anticipated moment for all of us. The year saw dreams turning into reality. Ram Lal Anand College (Evening), finally, turned into Aryabhata College, a regular day college. It is a matter of extreme pride to witness the change, and more significantly, to be a fundamental part of that formative transition that will shape the future of Aryabhata College.

Today, as we celebrate the 2nd Annual College day, the occasion demands that we take a stock of things done, review the progress made and acknowledge the achievements of our students, teaching faculty members and the non-teaching staff.

Looking back in retrospect, one is thrilled to have witnessed a new surge of energy that has resulted in noticeable developments in the College.

INFRASTRUCTURE

To begin with the infrastructure, the only independent infrastructure available with the college at its inception was an academic block with two office rooms, a computer laboratory, the Principal's room and a library stack hall. With this bare minimum, the College started work on the expansion front. In April last year, the college inaugurated its academic block comprising of 15 classrooms and a staff room. I am glad to state that we have come quite a long way during this short journey of 12 months.

After provisioning the classrooms and the staff room with appropriate furniture, we created a seminar hall that has been a hive of activity since its commissioning, a new computer laboratory to enable the beginning of new courses, and a reading hall that remains occupied from early morning till late evening. Recently, the Seminar Hall was inaugurated and is in use now to host seminars, talks, PowerPoint presentations, film screenings and conferences. Keeping in mind our increased reliance on technology and ICT as well as for the convenience of the teachers, two computers and a printer were placed in the staff room for easy access to online reading materials.

Our serious handicaps were the lack of sufficient classrooms, office space (in particular for student dealing and record storage), a reasonably well sized library, a usable sports field, study space for teachers and a cafeteria. However, I am glad to report that we are on schedule in developing all the above.

Renovation and remodeling of a part of the existing administrative building and a store room was started in December and we are soon to commission a new student dealing office and records store as well as study halls for students and teachers.

The construction of buildings and a concomitant expansion of infrastructure are going on in full swing. Work on the leftover part of academic block was started a month ago. This includes 10 classrooms, a two-storey library and a two-storey canteen. We are currently running on schedule and hope that the buildings would be available for the next session in July-August 2016. The plans for repair of the sports ground are on the anvil and we hope to start the same during this summer to get it ready at the same time.

In a happy turn of events, the permanent college buildings have been approved by the sanctioning authorities and we are currently in the process of starting its construction too. This dream would have forever remained so, but for the timely intervention by the Chairman of our college governing body. I also wish to record my gratitude to the honourable members and the Chairman of the Building Committee and my colleagues in the infrastructure and purchase committees for their immense effort and patience. Your selfless efforts shall be remembered by generations of students and teachers.

Along similar lines of developments, I am happy to announce that four more honours courses- History, Mathematics, Computer Science and Psychology- that were earlier ratified by the University will be introduced in the coming academic session. It will add to the richness of courses as well as attract the best minds that will benefit immensely from such a wide pool of subjects on offer.

For a college that is still acquiring its wings it is nothing short of a major milestone success that we successfully got the approval of the UGC to host national seminars. Four departments- English, Hindi, Political Science and Computer Science- organized one to two days National level seminars that saw speakers and performers from various universities from across the country participating in the conference, thus making it a hugely successful event that has enhanced the academic profile of the College.

Indeed, on the numerous occasions that I have had the opportunity to inaugurate and participate in the college events organized by so many departments, I was delighted to see the best effort that had gone into the making of those events. It is certainly remarkable to see our students making the best of whatever we have to start off with. So, I take this moment to congratulate my wonderful students and the dedicated team of teachers who have kept the show going, and successfully so. The challenges have been many but you made sure that it would not come in the way of achieving what we collectively dream of when we think of Aryabhata College.

Academic Achievements of the Teaching Staff

Apart from their duty and commitment towards teaching, the members of the teaching faculty have been actively engaged in other academic pursuits that have added to their own development as well as to the name and overall enhancement of the College. Their individual contributions range from publishing books, delivering paper presentations and keynote lectures at national and international conferences to conducting workshops and seminars in Indian universities and foreign institutions.

RANGMANCH (Convener: Dr. Pamela Anwer)

In a first, the Theatre Group of our college 'Rangmanch' held an inter-college street play competition, Street-Struck which turned out to be a huge success. A total of thirteen college teams participated with great enthusiasm making it a talking point among both the participants and the hosts. We hope to continue with this tradition on an annual basis.

The new college name inspired the members to rename the annual college festival. Named Elixir 2016, it was held in the college premises with various colleges participating with great vigour, energy and verve to make it a resounding success which will resonate in the years to come. Two days of fun and games saw such events as group dancing, debating, team activities, photography competition, sketching competition and a host of other exciting activities for competitors organized by the Arts and Culture society.

The Rangmanch team also wowed the audiences with its performances held at Gandhi Bhawan, Maharaja Soorajmal College and Bhim Rao Ambedkar College.

NIBS & BRUSHES: The Fine Arts & Creative Writing Society

The newest entrant on the list, NIBS & BRUSHES: The Fine Arts & Creative Writing Society was founded in the month of August by Ashwani Kumar Tiwari, B.A.(H) Business Economics 1st Year in association with the BBE society of our college.

In a first of its kind, the cost of auditioning was crowd funded and three successive auditions were held to shortlist candidates for the society.

It has two wings working in collaboration- a Fine Arts wing consisting of sketch artists and painters and a Creative Writing wing formed by young budding poets and storytellers of Aryabhata College.

Once the society was founded, a future course of action was devised which included a couple of creative submissions from the members every month so as to create a society portfolio. Artists and writers were asked to submit a creative writing piece and artwork respectively based on a particular theme decided by the President of the society.

Frequent meetings were held to keep the members updated on various happenings and also to have a fun time reading self-written poetry and exhibiting the artworks.

Working in association with the Rangmanch team, the “NIBS & BRUSHES” society undertook the task of beautifying and decking up the college. We got our opportunity to organize our desired competitive events under “ELIXIR 16” the Annual Art & Cultural Fest of Aryabhata College.

In addition to that, the team organized Slam Poetry and Sketching competition. Made up of a bunch of dedicated people keen on working for the college, its members have been actively participating in various fests across colleges in the DU circuit.

Vinay (Pol. Sci., 2nd Year) & Mehul (Eco. Hons., 3rd Year) deserve a special mention for they have won laurels in sketching competition at Dyal Singh College and Slam Poetry /Story writing competitions at Gargi College and Sri Venkateswara College.

The students displayed exemplary enthusiasm and participation by engaging in critical reflections on a variety of contemporary issues, concerns and challenges.

ADVENTURE SOCIETY (Mr. Harish Dhawan)

The Adventure Society is the longest running high altitude trekking group in Delhi. It has conducted treks to every corner of Utrkhand over the past 25 years. In order to celebrate this achievement, silver anniversary of Himalayan Trekking with a dayara meadow circuit trek with 105 participants was organized. The support from the Economics and Business Economics societies made such a large trek possible. The trekkers worked for 4 days to cover a distance of over 30 kilometers between the altitude of 7000 and 12000 feet.

Deepak {BA (H) Economics IIIrd Year} and Piyush Pawar {BA (H) Economics IIIrd Year} were pronounced the best trekkers.

FEE CONCESSION AND SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE (Dr. Kamayani Kumar)

The Fee Concession and Scholarship Committee undertook the task of extending financial support to students from economically weaker sections. A large number of students had applied for fee concession. On the basis of an interview the students were ranked on the basis of need cum merit. The Committee ensured that the most deserving and sincere students earn the maximum benefit feasible.

The Committee took a new stride by introducing certain new scholarships: Dr.B.R. Ambedkar Scholarship, Vivekananda Medhavi Chattravritti Yojna and Library Mitra.

Dr.B.R. Ambedkar Scholarship has been tailored to provide an extended financial support to needy students whereas Vivekananda Medhavi Chhatravritti Yojna has been initiated as an encouragement to students whose performance has been academically meritorious. It has been recommended that students from second and third year of all disciplines and streams be selected on the basis of result and felicitated. This would also serve as an impetus to other students.

Realizing that sports form an integral part of holistic development of a student's caliber, it has been proposed that deserving students should be covered under the Major Dhyanchand Khel Chattravritti. Students who have earned laurels at National, State or University level in any sport will be awarded a scholarship under this head.

The Committee also constituted another scholarship titled Library Mitra. The same will be awarded to the student who has displayed consistent efforts towards optimum utilization of library resources.

The committee is also going to ensure that students are informed about State sponsored Scholarships so that they can seek assistance from other sources if possible. This would ensure a broader coverage in terms of financial aid for students of Aryabhata College. It has also recommended a corpus which would be used towards facilitation of a greater degree of financial aid to students in need of fee concession or scholarship. The fund for this corpus will be sought from different resources, for instance, alumni or sponsorships.

The Committee worked in tandem and received relevant insights from the Principal, Dr.Manoj Sinha. The committee could not have functioned in a productive manner for the benefit of students without the sustained efforts put in by all its members.

GARDEN AND ENVIRONMENT COMMITTEE (Convener: Dr. Monica Aggarwal)

Aryabhata College being a budding college poses a lot of challenges for the garden committee to create fresh, green and blooming surroundings. Dr. Monica Aggarwal, the Convener, expressed her great pride for the dedicated team which very sportingly took up the onus of developing a green and environment friendly campus. During spring, the College was seen blooming with seasonal flowers such as chrysanthemums, gladiolas, marigolds, cineraria, salvia etc. In addition to it, the College has a dedicated space for the much sought after rose garden that is rich with a variety of roses in it. The members have been actively engaged in developing a landscape garden at the college entrance that will give the College a character of its own in the years to come. Extending its eco-friendly initiatives, the Committee joined hands with Jaagruti – a waste paper recycling initiative wherein the NGO collects the waste paper from our College to recycle them into beautiful note pads and paper reams for the College.

In the women's section we could not retain the championship position that we earned last year because two players migrated from our college to Miranda House for better prospects. However, Sumedha Rathi (B.A, 2nd Year, Roll no.183) won gold in under 46 Kg weight category and young Husna Siddiqui (B.A(H) English, Roll No. 48) clinched the Bronze in under 49 kg weight category.
