Alumni Talk

Srijan, The Psychology Department of Aryabhata College organised an Alumni Talk on the 7th of February, 2025 at the Student Activity Centre to offer guidance to the students and explore the diverse avenues and options the realm of psychology has to offer.

The event was graced by 5 professors and 110 students. The event commenced at 1:45pm by welcoming and introducing the alumni out of which 4 of them joined offline and 3 of them virtually. The event was kickstarted with a video of the alumni cherishing their college life. Thereafter each of the alumni were felicitated by the professors.

Akanksha Rajguru, who emphasized the importance of early preparation for entrance exams like CUET PG and suggested students start by reading research papers for future PhD pursuits. She advised students to read research papers regularly, start research projects early, and opt for manageable topics during their PhD to build a solid foundation.

Dhairya Mohla a 2023 gold medalist who is pursuing Masters in Psychology from Delhi University encouraged students to balance academics with exploring college life, internships, and workshops. She emphasized that while master's programs are demanding, practical exposure through workshops and societies is invaluable. Dhairya advised students to holistically prepare for CUET (PG) using present coursework as a base.

Anwesha Gogoi who is pursuing Masters in Criminology from National Forensic Science University, Delhi discussed the scope of criminal psychology in India, urging students to explore the field further as a viable career option.

Charu Sahu, an alumna from TISS, shared her journey, explaining that TISS is ideal for those who aspire to be mental health practitioners. Charu encouraged students to choose a specialization early, as the structured college life at TISS can be intense but rewarding. She also highlighted the importance of cultural immersion, practical experience, and creative assignments, like human development projects, which are integral parts of the TISS curriculum.

Sukhnoor Kaur, who is studying MSc in Organizational Psychology at the University of Manchester, discussed her experiences studying abroad. She advised students to thoroughly research their desired country of study, consider financial aspects, and build a strong academic profile. She highlighted the challenges of dissertation work abroad and recommended pursuing scholarships or self-funding options. Additionally, Sukhnoor stressed the importance of statistics classes for those pursuing psychology in international institutions.

Avi Jain, who transitioned from Delhi University to Christ University, spoke about the structured nature of the curriculum at Christ University. He emphasized that the personal interview plays a crucial role in the admission process and that Christ University strives to provide a strong foundation for students in the field. The curriculum is structured over four semesters, with the last semester focusing on internships and research.

Chanchal pursuing Masters in Psychology from Delhi University elaborated on the importance of internships and workshops. She focused on the value of actively participating in college societies and workshops, suggesting that these experiences help students decide on their specialization. Chanchal further added the need for mastering various tools like Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS) to have an edge over the others.

A Q&A session ensued where panellists addressed various queries from the audience, clarifying doubts about the psychology field, education paths, and career opportunities. A key discussion focused on the importance of internships. While internships at the undergraduate level may not have a significant impact, engaging in workshops was highlighted as highly beneficial. Dhairya explained that workshops help students explore their interests and make informed decisions about specializations, emphasizing that understanding one's passions should take priority over securing an internship. Sukhnoor, when asked whether university reputation or program quality should be prioritized, stressed the importance of being part of a strong program. She also shared her reasons for choosing the UK, citing the comfort of the setting and the flexibility of the 1+2 year study visa, which accepted her three-year BA degree. Anwesha addressed the scope of criminology, noting that while opportunities are limited in India, government exams after post-graduation can offer related career options. She reiterated Dhairya's point about the value of a well-rounded college experience, encouraging students to balance academics with extracurricular engagement.

Dr. Neera (Srijan in-charge) delivered the vote of thanks, expressing gratitude to the panellists and attendees. Overall, the alumni talk was an invaluable session that provided a comprehensive overview of pursuing psychology at the undergraduate and graduate levels while underscoring importance of networking.
